

Subtle Changes @ Davie, Florida Town Hall

Several cities in South Florida have feuded in recent years over invocations at government meetings. Davie Town Council meetings haven't been preceded by an invocation in years.

There was one exception. At the swearing in ceremony for the Mayor and Town Council, the individual being sworn in generally designated a member of the clergy to offer an invocation. There was no invocation at the swearing in ceremony of Mayor Judy Paul, and Councilman Brian Caletka on March 18, 2009.
