Dancing zombies documented at University of Florida!

Once again, the University of Florida proves to be a hotbed of zombie activity. Zombies have a well documented craving for human flesh. This video, released by Campus Crusade for Christ, suggests some zombies may also have a primitive sense of rhythm.

Note: Click on the screen after the video loads if you need to go to the YouTube website for a bigger picture.